

A Research Study of the Oldest-old Chinese

Edited by Yuzhi Liu, Ye Yuan et al.

Table of Contents

Chapter One The Size of and the Changes in the Oldest-old Chinese Population

- I. Oldest-old population in the world
- II. Oldest-old Chinese and the changes in their population
- III. Distribution of the oldest-old Chinese
- IV. Summary

Chapter Two Marriage, Family, and Fertility of Oldest Old

- I. Marital status
- II. Fertility
- III. Family structure and living arrangement
- IV. Summary

Chapter Three Health of the Oldest-old Chinese

- I. Basic Health Status
- II. Chronic Illness
- III. Subjective Evaluation of Health
- IV. KATZ' ADL
- V. Summary

Chapter Four Mental Health of the Oldest-old Chinese

- I. Cognitive Ability
- II. State of Mind
- III. Self-rated Satisfaction with Life
- IV. Summary

Chapter Five Security of Life of the Oldest-old Chinese

- I. Financial Support
- II. Medical Care
- III. Daily Care
- IV. Summary

Chapter Six Survival of the Oldest-old Chinese

- I. Survival of the Oldest-old Chinese

- II. Survival of Family Members of the Oldest-old Chinese
- III. Summary

Chapter Seven Life Style of the Oldest-old Chinese

- I. Eating and Drinking Habits
- II. Alcohol Consumption and Smoking
- III. Leisure Life
- IV. Summary

Chapter Eight The Longevity and Living Environments of the Oldest-old Chinese

- I. In the Guangxi Bama Area
- II. In Sichuan Pengshan County
- III. In the Jiangsu Nantong Area
- IV. In the Hubei Zhongxiang City
- V. Summary

Chapter Nine Chinese Centenarians and Their Longevity by Regions

- I. Regional Distribution of Chinese Centenarians
- II. Regional Differences of Longevity in Year 2000
- III. Studies on longevity by Regions
- IV. Summary

Chapter Ten Major Findings and Policy Implications

- I. Major Findings
- II. Policy Implications

Appendix 1 Questionnaire on Determinants of Healthy Longevity in China in 2002

Appendix 2 Tables of the Survey in 2002